What we do

We transform complexity into clarity.

Geopolitical and country risk

GRS advises multinational companies, investors, and governments on identifying, assessing, and managing political, social, and institutional risks in countries or regions.

Investigation services

We provide evidence-based insights into political risks and the reputational risks of clients' potential partners — risks that may not be visible at first glance but can have a major impact on operations.

Risk intelligence and monitoring services

We provide clients with intelligence about emerging political, macroeconomic, social, and security risks — both globally and in the regions that matter most to their operations.

Cybersecurity advisory

We empower Boards and C-Level executives to understand and manage cyber risks not just as technical issues but also as strategic business risks.

Executive training

Our Training Programs are designed to equip Board members, C-Level executives, senior decision-makers, and public officials with the tools, frameworks, and insights they need to navigate today's complex environments.

Our Services

Geopolitical and country risk

GRS advises multinational companies, investors, and governments on identifying, assessing, and managing political, social, and institutional risks in countries or regions.

We help clients anticipate and mitigate potential impacts stemming from social unrest, institutional instability, or political violence.

We provide actionable insights to support strategic decision-making, helping clients safeguard their investments in complex environments.

Examples of products of this service are:

- Analysis of broader geopolitical dynamics that may impact clients' global supply chains and cross-border investments.
- Assessments and forecasts of political and social risks in a specific country or region.
- Periodic reports tracking political risk indicators (elections, protests, geopolitical tensions), customized to client needs.
- Periodic alerts on political developments that may affect clients' operations or assets powered by AI.

Our Services

Cybersecurity advisory

We empower Boards and C-Level executives to understand and manage cyber risks not just as technical issues but also as strategic business risks. We help clients make informed, high-level decisions about how cyber threats impact firms' strategy, resilience, and reputation.

As a result, firms will treat cyber risk as a boardroom issue that intersects with long-term value creation.

Examples of products of this service are:

- Tailored evaluations of organization's cyber threat exposure at the strategic level, highlighting potential vulnerabilities in governance and leadership awareness.
- Project-based support to help clients define cybersecurity as part of enterprise risk management.
- Custom-designed tabletop exercises for Boards and senior executives to rehearse responses to critical cyber incidents with a focus on decision-making under pressure.
- Structures to govern cyber risk by developing or refinement of high-level governance documents, including cybersecurity charters and escalation protocols.

Our Services

Investigation services

GRI advises clients on identifying political and clients' potential partners' reputation risks that may not be visible at first glance but can have a major impact on operations.

Before committing resources or entering a new market, clients rely on GRI to understand who they are really dealing with, what power structures are in play, and what hidden risks or red flags could emerge.

Examples of products of this service are:

- A comprehensive assessment of the political exposure associated with a country, sector, or transaction, including informal power networks, and red flags related to local governance.
- Discreet investigations into the reputational history of individuals, companies, or entities — including litigation records, media analysis,
- Strategic mapping of key formal and informal actors — including political figures, community leaders, and interest groups — with analysis of their influence, interests, and alignments.

Our Services

Risk intelligence and monitoring services

We provide clients with intelligence about emerging political, macroeconomic, social, and security risks — both globally and in the regions that matter most to their operations.

We help firms and governments anticipate threats, opportunities, and make informed decisions in complex or volatile environments.

Examples of products of this service are:

- A subscription-based alert service that delivers curated updates on political and security developments, which includes expert commentary and assessment of threat levels.
- Concise, sector-specific updates that synthesize global political developments and provide forward-looking risk assessments that clients can absorb quickly and share with teams.
- Tailored support during high-impact events (e.g. coups, strikes, sanctions, cyberattacks), offering clients continuous updates, scenario outlooks, and strategic recommendations.
- Analysis of key political actors and civil society groups that could impact clients' operations.

Executive training

Our Training Programs are designed to equip Board members, C-Level executives, senior decision-makers, and public officials with the tools, frameworks, and insights they need to navigate today's complex environments.

We help clients build resilient teams, adapt to diverse contexts, and operate effectively in critical situations.

Examples of products of this service are:

- Sessions for C-level executives, public servants or security teams to build political risk awareness and decision-making capabilities.
- Tailored sessions with clients to test strategies against different political risk scenarios (e.g., regime change, social unrest, populist backlash, migration, environmental issues and institutional changes) to build resilience and crisis
- Immersive, scenario-based exercises simulating high-impact events — such as management or operations crises — to test team's response and strategic judgment.
